

MILWAUKEE ROAD has installed its first hot box detector at Pewaukee, Wis., about 23 miles west of Milwaukee. The pengraph recorder is in a tower at Duplainville, six miles from the detector location. The operator views the chart, and upon noting an indicated hot box, radios to the freight train crew. He tells them that they should stop the train and gives them the location of the car and the abnormally hot journal.